Kedarnath Closing Date	11 November 2026
Badrinath Closing Date	13 November 2026

Note:These dates are tentative and based on estimation. The official announcement is made by Temple Committees and Uttarakhand Government during Basant Panchami and Akshaya Tritiya festivals. The schedule may slightly change depending on weather conditions.

Temple-wise Opening Date Details

Kedarnath Opening Date 2026

The doors of Kedarnath Dham open every year in the month of Vaishakh, the exact date of which is announced on the day of Maha Shivratri as per the Panchang. The Kedarnath opening date for 2026 is believed to be around 22 April 2026, which will be finalised after the weather conditions and official notification. The best time for Kedarnath Yatra is considered to be May-June and September-October, when the weather is comparatively stable and the crowd is also manageable.

Aarti Timing	06:00 am and 08:30 pm
---------------------	------------------------------

Badrinath Opening Date 2026

The darshan of Badrinath Dham starts with the start of the summer season, the opening date of which is announced on the day of Basant Panchami at Narsingh Temple, Joshimath. In 2026, the doors of Badrinath temple are likely to open around 24 April 2026, while the closing generally takes place in the last weeks of Kartik/Samvat.

May-June and after September are suitable times for pilgrims, as the road condition and weather are comparatively better during this period.

Badrinath Temple Timing

Morning Darshan Timing	4.30 am to 1:00 pm
Evening Darshan Timing	1:00 pm to 9:00Pm
Aarti Timing	4.30 A.M am and 8:30 pm

Gangotri Opening Date 2026

The doors of Gangotri Dham open every year on the auspicious day of Akshaya Tritiya, which falls on approximately 19 April in 2026. This day is considered the official start of the Char Dham Yatra, and it also marks the auspicious beginning of the journey to the origin of the River Ganga.

The risk of landslides on the Gangotri route increases during the monsoon months (July–August), so it is better to plan the journey in May–June or September–October.

Morning Darshan Timing	6:00 am to 1:00 pm
Evening Darshan Timing	4:00 pm to 8:00 pm
Aarti Timing	6:30 am and 7:30 pm

Yamunotri Opening Date 2026

The Yamunotri shrine also opens on Akshaya Tritiya, marking the beginning of the pilgrimage to the source of the Yamuna River. The Yamunotri shrine is expected to open around April 19th in 2026, and the shrine generally closes around Bhai Dooj.

The Yamunotri trek can be a bit challenging, so it's important to bring comfortable shoes, warm clothing, and basic fitness.

Morning Darshan Timing	6:15 am to 2:00 pm
Evening Darshan Timing	3:00 pm to 9:30 pm
Aarti Timing	6:00 am and 7:45 pm

Char Dham Yatra 2026 Registration & Permit

The Uttarakhand government has implemented a compulsory registration system for the Char Dham Yatra, which you can do through the online portal or the official mobile app.

For registration, basic details like name, mobile number, Eid proof, travel date and destination Dham have to be selected.

Offline registration counters are also available at some places, but for a smooth experience, advance online registration is recommended.

Best Time for Char Dham Yatra 2026

After opening, the time from April end to June is good for those who want to experience the fresh season and cool weather after snowfall.

The monsoon months of July-August have a higher risk of rain and landslides, so it is considered safe to avoid this period.

The post-monsoon season of September–October is considered to be the most balanced time with comparatively clear skies, less crowds and comfortable temperatures.
